by the City Council at its hearing held on January 27, 2004, of a new single family residence is approved, based on the following findings of fact:

The project design, as approved with conditions,

A. Conforms to the City's Preservation Area Plan in terms of general scale, orientation of structural elements, and orientation on its site and in the general context of the historic district, albeit executed in a contemporary design with some contemporary materials.

B. Conforms to the City's Central City Design Guidelines in terms of the general context and relationship to its surroundings, particularly noting the Design Review & Preservation Board's considerations in its approval relative to the location of the site, on the edge of the historic district, which boundary runs down the center of the street, and with industrial buildings across the street from the site. It is also noted that contributing resources in the historic district include additional architectural styles and variety beyond the two Victorian structures on either side of the subject site. The conditions adopted by the City Council also reflect the guidelines with respect to more traditional residential materials and details and with respect to the height of the structure relative to the structure to the south of the project.

C. Conforms to the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation in that the project does not destroy historic materials or spatial relationships that characterize the historic district, can be differentiated from the historic contributing resources in the district while also being generally compatible with the size, scale and proportion of the district's contributing resources.
