Attachment 1Background

In July 2000, the Sacramento Police Department undertook a comprehensive study of traffic stops to address perceptions of racial profiling. In March 2004, City Council approved the establishment of a formal advisory commission to provide equitable representation, accountability, and reporting from Sacramento residents on this issue of national importance, as well as provide the City with a greater opportunity to be inclusive. In November 2004, City Council confirmed selections for membership on the Community Racial Profiling Commission, whose purpose is to assist the City with its racial profiling vehicle stop study. The Commission held its first meeting in January 2005 and set its future meeting dates as the third Thursday of the month at 6:00 p.m. at the Public Safety Center.

In February 2006, Lamberth Consulting was awarded the contract to conduct the Traffic Stop Data study. Lamberth Consulting staff studied Police Department processes of data collection and mapping, in-car camera recording of pedestrian and bicycle stops, and Police Department policies related to stops. Lamberth staff conducted their study on data collected between December 1, 2007 and May 31, 2008, with the final report presented to the Sacramento City Council on August 12, 2008. The commission members worked with Communications Specialist Michele McCormick to develop the Commission's presentation to Council and a series of stakeholder meetings to present and discuss the Lamberth study results. These public stakeholder meetings, held on August 13, 14 and 15, featured presentations by Dr. Lamberth and SPD Chief Rick Braziel, as well as dialogue among the attendees.

The Commission members are working to formulate recommendations to the Sacramento Police Department related to issues raised in the Lamberth report, as well as devising strategies regarding implementation of recommendations made by Dr. Lamberth. Members are also focusing on identifying future goals, responsibilities, and powers for the Commissions.

Letter to the Mayor and City Council

Subject: Community Racial Profiling Commission Quarterly Report
(July - September 2009)

The Community Racial Profiling Commission (CRPC), established in November 2004, continued to fulfill its mission to serve as an advisory body to the City Council regarding bias free policing. This third quarterly report of 2009 describes the activities of the CRPC from July to September 2009.

The Mission of the Community Racial Profiling Commission is to serve as an advisory body of our community regarding bias free policing.

Since the last quarterly update, the Commission has experienced and accomplished the following:

Discussion, Formulation, and Approval of CRPC Recommendations to the Sacramento Police Department Related to Traffic Stop Study Report

Commission reviewed and finalized recommended changes to the proposed letter to the Mayor and Council regarding the recommendations relating to the traffic stop study. Committee members discussed suggestion that the next study be done by this Committee and the members of the community, as a joint effort, rather than by an outside firm employed by the city. By doing this, the Commission felt that citizen buy-in of the results would be enhanced. It was the recommendation of the Commission to submit the finalized letter to the Mayor and Council and wait for a response from Council prior to requesting a resolution refuting racial profiling.

Comments and Operational Updates on Sacramento Police Department Activities
Deputy Chief Brian Louie:

- ❖ Reported that the Department continues to collect vehicle stop data statistics, with a compliance rate at approximately 98 percent.
- ❖ Updated Commission members monthly on crime and enforcement factors that could influence the focus of traffic stops.

Goals

The three goals adopted by the Commission are to: foster better police/community relations through activities such as the CRPC community forums and the stakeholder workshops, analyze relationships between racial profiling and social issues using quality research, and understand policing from a police perspective.

Commission members will continue to contemplate and discuss the dimensions of their purpose and their powers and duties in serving as an advisory body regarding vehicle stop data collection and bias free policing to the City Council and as a liaison to the Community regarding the results of the Lamberth study. The Commission has agreed to meet on a quarterly basis, as previously approved by Council, unless a special meeting is required. Next Commission meeting is scheduled for October 15, 2009.

Sincerely,

Sean Coletta, 2009 Chair, CRPC

Brian Louie, 2009 Vice Chair, CRPC
